

The School Showcase will feature school teams sharing their approaches to fostering inquiry in their learning community.

Why share in the School Showcase?

Share your ideas with a global audience of progressive schools

Contribute to driving a culture of inquiry in schools around the world

Eligibility requirements

- Participating schools can share work pertaining to any grade level, subject, or teaching and learning initiative.
- Participating schools should make sure their content is authentic and focuses on approaches that foster inquiry in the learning community.
- Participating schools should make sure they have the requisite parent permissions when sharing student photographs, videos, or work samples.
- Each participating school team can comprise upto 3 members.

What we mean by inquiry

As there are a myriad ways to interpret inquiry, we are taking inquiry to mean the following for the purposes of the TIES showcases.

Inquiry is an approach to learning that:

- emphasizes the learner's role in the learning process
- is contextual and purposeful
- involves a process of exploration
- leads to student wonderings and discovery learning
- empowers learners to investigate, connect, synthesise and communicate ideas
- provokes thinking and tests discoveries to develop understanding
- invokes meaningful engagement and learning transfer

Application process

Phase 1

Initial application

Fill out the application form and submit a 3-5 minute video showcasing an approach or practice to foster inquiry within your school community.

Video submission criteria:

The video should make the practice come alive. It should include:

-  Classroom photos and video clips
-  Work samples
-  Input of student voice and school community

The teaching and learning strategies used should be clearly identified in the video through interviews, labelling, or voice over.

To note: All submitted videos will be hosted on Toddle's Youtube channel and on the TIES 2022 website!

Phase 2

Shortlisting

10 of the submitted entries will be shortlisted to ensure a wide array of rich practices. Considerations will include diversity in location, school type, school size and topic of showcase.

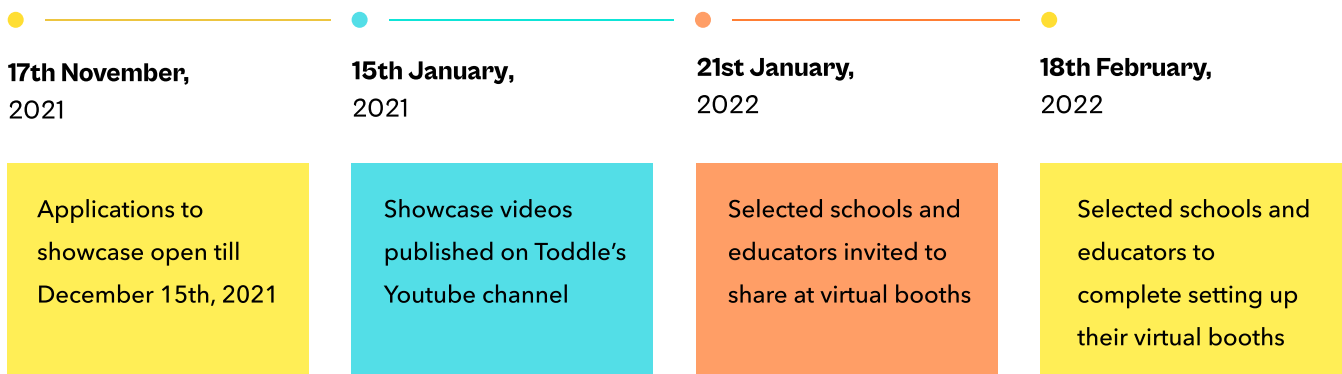

Phase 3

Showcase at TIES 2022

3 members from each shortlisted school will be invited to set up a "virtual booth" at TIES 2022. The virtual booth will be an opportunity for school teams to:

- Share videos and strategies
- Present authentic resources that may be useful to teachers everywhere
- Provoke questions and inspire educators from around the world
- Build relationships and network 1:1 with like-minded educators
- All 3 members of the shortlisted school teams will also get free All Access Passes to TIES 2022
